National Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisation (referred in this Contract as "NACCHO")

Level 5 East, 2 Constitution Avenue Canberra ACT 2601

ABN 89 078 949 710

1. Background

In the next decade, the population of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people aged 50 and over is projected to double to almost 250,000 people¹. Despite this unprecedented population growth, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people do not currently access aged care at a rate that is commensurate with their level of need.

There are known barriers that prevent or discourage Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people from accessing aged care services: difficulty navigating the system, a lack of service providers close to home which may require a person to move away from family and Country to access aged care, a lack of culturally appropriate and/or trauma informed provision of care, experiences of racism, and distrust of institutional care because of both personal and historical experiences.

NACCHO has been successful in securing a large-scale contract to deliver Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Aged Care support. Through the Trusted Indigenous Facilitator – Aged Care Workforce program, NACCHO will work with the sector to assist Elders and older Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and their families to navigate and access aged care services.

The program aims to increase workforce capability and capacity in community-controlled aged care support and empower the community-controlled sector to coordinate place-based care needs. A workforce of 250 FTE across Australia will provide this support to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. ACCHOs/ACCOs are best placed to recruit locally and are highly skilled at providing the wrap around support needed to new staff to ensure their successful transition into the care workforce.

2. Purpose of this Contract

The Contract offers funding to the Service Provider to enable them to engage a workforce that can advocate for and provide support to Elders and older Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to understand, navigate and access aged care services and support that they are entitled to.

 - understand the aged care system, including identifying the level of care and services required.
 - receive greater local support, linking services with local knowledge, access the right aged care services to meet their needs.
 - engage with all components of the aged care system.
- (b) Reduce barriers across the aged care journey experienced by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.
- (c) Increase the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people accessing aged care services.
- (d) Increase the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people receiving care on Country.
- (e) Increase employment and career opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.
